

Syllabus for PHIL 414, Winter 2023, Term 2

Topics in the History of Modern Philosophy: Kant's Political Philosophy

Instructor: Dr Anders Kraal

[Updated June 9, 2023]

1. Course Description

The course is devoted to a close study of Kant's political philosophy as articulated in his book The Metaphysics of Morals, Part 1, and in his essay On Perpetual Peace. These works cover Kant's reflections on property, money, rights and freedoms, laws and the legal system, the government, and war.

2. Lectures MWF 2:00-2:50pm in BUCH B318.

3. Instructor Dr. Anders Kraal (anders.kraal@ubc.ca)

4. Instructor Office Hours TBA

5. Instructor Email Policy Instructor will reply to emails weekdays, typically within 48 h.

6. Required Texts

I. Kant: The Metaphysics of Morals (Cambridge edition). (Will be available in the UBC bookstore.)

I. Kant: On Perpetual Peace (will be posted as PDF on canvas).

A few additional readings will be posted on Canvas.

7. Course Requirements

Assignment	Percentage Worth
In-Class Exam (x3)	20% (x3)
Final Exam	40%

For dates, see the Schedule.

In the in-class exams you will be asked to provide answers to questions dealing with matters brought up in class prior to the date of the exam. If you miss the in-class exam you will automatically be assigned 0 points unless you provide the TA with an UBC Academic Calendar approved rationale for doing a make-up exam (this is to be provided within 1 week of the day of the exam).

The final exam will be held during UBC's final examinations period. A missed final exam will be assigned a grade point of 0 unless an explanation is provided that is acceptable by the standards of the UBC Academic Calendar (in which case there will be opportunity for a make-up exam).

8. Learning Outcomes

At the end of the course the student will be expected to:

- i. Be familiar with Kant's political philosophy as found in The Metaphysics of Morals and On Perpetual Peace.
- ii. Understand and be able to explain in more detail some specific ideas and arguments in Kant's The Metaphysics of Morals and On Perpetual Peace.
- iii. Have developed their own thoughts with respect to Kant's political philosophy.

9. Marking Parameters

Your mark in this course will be a function of three main factors: 1) your performance on the examinable momenta relative to your peers, 2) your comprehension of the course material, 3) demonstration of skill in assessing and evaluating philosophical ideas.

10. Marking Scale

A+ 90-100%	B+ 76-79%	C+ 64-67%	D 50-54%
A 85-89%	B 72-75%	C 60-63%	F 0-49%
A- 80-84%	B- 68-71%	C- 55-59%

The degree of difficulty on the examinable momenta will be set so as to aim at a class average outcome that by and large conforms to the department average for this course down the years. Upwards scaling may be used to this effect.

11. Policy on Review of Marked Work

Marks will be posted on canvas. Feedback on expected outcomes of exams will be provided (typically by the Instructor) in so-called Feedback Sessions. Any concerns about the marking of a paper or exam should be submitted to the marker via email, and will be responded to via email.

12. Plagiarism (quoted from the UBC Academic Calendar)

Plagiarism, which is intellectual theft, occurs where an individual submits or presents the oral or written work of another person as his or her own. Scholarship quite properly rests upon examining and referring to the thoughts and writings of others. However, when another person's words (i.e. phrases, sentences, or paragraphs), ideas, or entire works are used, the author must be acknowledged in the text, in footnotes, in endnotes, or in another accepted form of academic citation. Where direct quotations are made, they must be clearly delineated (for example, within quotation marks or separately indented). Failure to provide proper attribution is plagiarism because it represents someone else's work as one's own. Plagiarism should not occur in submitted drafts or final works. A student who seeks assistance from a tutor or other scholastic aids must ensure that the work submitted is the student's own. Students are responsible for ensuring that any work submitted does not constitute plagiarism. Students who are in any doubt as to what constitutes plagiarism should consult their instructor before handing in any assignments. See also <http://www.calendar.ubc.ca/Vancouver/index.cfm?tree=3,54,111,959>

13. UBC Values and Policies (quoted from the UBC Academic Calendar)

UBC provides resources to support student learning and to maintain healthy lifestyles but recognizes that sometimes crises arise and so there are additional resources to access including those for survivors of sexual violence. UBC values respect for the person and ideas of all members of the academic community. Harassment and discrimination are not tolerated nor is suppression of academic freedom. UBC provides appropriate accommodation for students with disabilities and for religious and cultural observances. UBC values academic honesty and students are expected to acknowledge the ideas generated by others and to uphold the highest academic standards in all of their actions. Details of the policies and how to access support are available here (<https://senate.ubc.ca/policiesresources-support-student-success>).
